Campbelltown Hospital Redevelopment

New renal department doubles in size

Campbelltown Hospital is celebrating its final department move as part of the $632 million Stage 2 redevelopment with the opening of the new and expanded renal unit this month.

The purpose-built and contemporary new department has doubled in size to meet the needs of the growing community now and into the future.

Located on Level 2 in Building C, the unit has a spacious open plan design including beautiful nature-inspired wall art and plenty of natural light.

Camden and Campbelltown Hospitals General Manager Grant Isedale said staff and patients were delighted with the welcoming and spacious unit.

“Patients can spend many hours receiving dialysis each week and our new department will greatly enhance their experience,” Mr Isedale said.

“It includes single rooms for more unwell patients and there are dedicated clinics for medical, nursing and allied health staff.

“We also have new touch-screen Patients Experience Systems which provide access to screening services.

“The department has been carefully designed to provide outstanding care and comfort for patients and we are delighted it is now open.”

Patients can access the new renal department via the lifts at the end of the concourse on Level 1. Enter through the main entrance in South Road, pass the main reception desk and continue along the concourse. Take the lifts to Level 2 and the new department is on the right.

Finishing touches to new entrance

Campbelltown Hospital’s new northern entrance is almost complete and will open in the coming weeks.

Hospital Redevelopment Project Director Natalia Lee said the landscaping around the new entrance was looking beautiful with a grassed area providing a peaceful space for staff and patients.

“We are adding the finishing touches and are excited to be delivering the final major works for the redevelopment of the hospital,” she said.
